MEMORIAL TO THE LATE WILLIAM COMLEY OF JARROW

The following letter has just been received from the Edmonton Branch of the Red Cross.

A small brass plate will be attached to the table with this inscription:

"This table and its equipment were donated by his friends as a memorial to Mr. Comley, of Jarrow."

The names of the friends who contributed are enclosed herewith.

We in the Red Cross feel that it is a great tribute to your husband, and we appreciate very much the fact that citizens of this type have left a wide-spread influence on any community.

Obituary

Funeral services of the late Walter Renwick, of Irma, who passed away at the Royal Alexandra hospital, Edmonton. Services were held from Irma United church. Rev. Longmire officiated.

Mr. Renwick was born in Grey County, Ontario, in 1876, and came to Alberta in 1910, where he homesteaded, and lived until the time of his passing.

Always bright and cheerful through his sorrowing and suffering, he was a worthy example to those who knew him. His faith in Christ for many years remained steadfast during the dark hours and made his passing beautiful and one to be remembered. Hymns sung were requested by Mr. Renwick before his passing: "The Old Rugged Cross," beautifully sung by the choir; "Safe in the Arms of Jesus," "Nearer My God to Thee."

Those left to mourn the loss are beloved wife, three daughters and three sons: Mrs. George Hipe (Mission City, B.C.), Mrs. Jones, of Irma; Dorothy, at home; Lloyd, of Three Hills; Clarence, at home; Ernest, with the Canadian Army Overseas.

Beautiful floral tributes and offerings were received from the following: Mrs. Renwick, Clarence, Ernest, Violet and Elmer; Lloyd and Martha; Gladys and George and Betty; George and Lawrence Archibald; Mrs. E. V. Curfman and Margaret, Cecil and Ida; Pte. A. R. Milliken; Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Archibald, Irene and family; Charlie, Evaline Pyle and and family; Mr. A. Farris; Mrs. Hain and family; Mrs. Hughes and girls; Mrs. Bella F. Shaw.

Roy Cris and Joe, Mr. and Mrs. J. Stead and family, Mr. and Mrs. Burton, Mrs. D. L. Robertson, Less, Wilma, Bill and Eileen, Mr. and Mrs. Foxwell, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Glover, Walter and Meta, Mr. and Mrs. James Fenton, from Vegreville, two nieces, Agnes and Jean, Mr. and Mrs. R. Patterson, Mr. W. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Dunbar, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Fisher, Mrs. McCarty, Edward, Elliott and Helen, Mr. and Mrs. M. Millan, Neil and Ruby, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Cray and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Archibald and family, Miss Odsley Prothlow.

A donation was sent to the Alberta Protestant Home, Edmonton, for children by Wm. Masson and family.

Rev. Wright sends sympathy to the sorrowing hearts.

These were the pallbearers for the funeral: A. McClean, Mr. Burton, M. McMillan, J. Carrenton, B. Oldam, R. Patterson. Andrew and McLaughlin were in charge of the funeral arrangements.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to extend our sincere thanks to all who were so kind to us during our sad bereavement; and to those who sent beautiful floral tributes.—Mrs. A. Renwick and family.

An all-night dance is being planned for Friday, March 10th, at the Strawberry Plains school.

Attention Farmers

carload of pigs raised in the Wainwright Municipality went to market along with quite a number of other carloads of other pigs last week. That is not unusual, but this carload was a little different, says T. W. Townley-Smith, District Agriculturist, or at least one out of every 10 pigs is going to come back to the Municipality in a little less than three weeks time, though the return trip will be in the form of Wiltshire bacon.

Out of this carload 1-10th of the hogs, in proportion to grades obtained on the whole car, will be marked. These will be slaughtered and processed in the usual way as if for export, before their return to the district, then a "show" or more correctly a demonstration will be held to show just what has become of the A or B1 or the B3 or the C hogs after they pass through a packing plant.

Present plans call for such a show to be held in Wainwright on Tuesday, March 14th, at 2 p.m. in addition to the practical problems and advanced registry of swine will be discussed.

The little pig that went to market and came back again might just as well be your own, they are not a bit better, so come and see them as the Britisher consumer sees them.

Ten spare F coupons in ration book 3 will be used to obtain canning sugar at the rate of 1 pound per coupon, commencing June 1.

NATIONAL LOCOMOTIVES NEED BIG COAL FILE

Toronto, February — The large fleet of locomotives hauling urgent war traffic over the Canadian National Railways during the past twelve month period used seven and a half million tons of coal to raise steam for that purpose. This is practically double the amount of coal required in a normal pre-war traffic year. A yard engine burns approximately three tons of coal during eight hours of service, while a 6,700 type locomotive needed for heavy main line work in National service consumes nine tons during a three-hour run.

Farmers raising war foods, supplying all kinds of products for export to the fighting fronts, may find it necessary to borrow at the Bank to cover their extra requirements.

It is the policy of the Bank of Montreal, at all of its branches, to co-operate at all times with farmers, and especially at the present time when their work is so essential to the war effort.

The Paper Industry

AMONG THINGS WHICH Canadians are asked to conserve at this time is paper, and in most communities there has been some evidence of a paper shortage. Many newspapers have been reduced in size and numerous merchants have discontinued the wrapping of purchases. In addition, some articles made from paper have disappeared from the market, or are now available only in limited quantities. In this, as in many other ways, we have been inconvenienced less than people in many other parts of the world. For some time the paper shortage in England has been acute and the greatest care has been taken there to avoid waste of any kind. Paper is always an important item in salvage collection here in Canada, and a great deal of paper has been reclaimed through this channel.

A Stimulus To National Life

Pulp and paper is of vital interest to us here, for in peacetime it is Canada's greatest industry and one half a million people depend upon it for a living. The capital invested in it exceeds that of any other foreign exchange. Another fact which contributes to its importance is that it stimulates many other industries. Power developments, transportation systems, heavy machinery and chemicals are among the many facilities upon which the production of pulp and paper depends. It is estimated that the industry spends $60,000,000 a year on transportation alone. Agriculture also benefits from it, for it provides part time employment for many farmers and it also creates a market for large quantities of farm products to feed its workers.

Many Essential Uses Outlined

It has been said that one of the necessities of a democracy is the free dissemination of news and ideas, and for this, paper is indispensable. In a recent address, Mr. Paul Kellogg, acting president of the Newspaper Association of Canada, discussed the many essential uses to which paper is put, and said that it could truthfully be called "the currency of civilization." At present the products of the Canadian pulp and paper industry are being used extensively for war purposes, for they go into the manufacture of small arms ammunition, shells, sea and land mines, and many other materials of war. Paper is also used for containers for many of the supplies sent to the armed forces. This, and the effect of the manpower shortage on the supply of pulp and paper, accounts for the present shortage here. Mr. Kellogg suggests, however, that in view of the important part which it plays in our national economy, much can be expected from the pulp and paper industry in the post-war period.

IT'S FOOLISH TO KEEP ON "DOSING"!

Why go on dosing another day with harsh, unpleasant purgatives? Discover, as thousands have, that KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN is a far better, far gentler way to help correct constipation due to lack of dietary "bulk". KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN really "gets at" this common cause of constipation—supplies "bulk" needed for easy, natural elimination! If this is your trouble—try eating an ounce of ALL-BRAN daily, or several ALL-BRAN muffins. Drink plenty of water. At your grocer's, in 2 convenient sizes. Make KELLOGG's in London, Canada.

Drying Blood

Britain Supplying Blood For Transfusion At Rate Of 3,500 Bottles A Week

Britain's Medical Research Council is drying human blood for transfusion at the rate of 3,500 bottles a week. The Council co-operates with the Ministry of Health's Regional Transfusion Service and the Army Blood Transfusion Service. All blood is given freely by volunteers. Britain began drying blood for this purpose in 1939; by 1942, 26,000 bottles were ready. The Germans were relying on "whole blood" until the beginning of the Libyan campaign.

Face All The Dangers

Casualties In The Army Chaplains' Corps Have Been Heavy

Chaplains on active service usually had a status which was not quite that of combatants, but such does not appear to be the case in this war. Reports from Great Britain state that the casualties in the Army Chaplains' Corps have been so disproportionately heavy that five hundred more padres are needed. The number attached to British units has grown from 120 to 4,000, and all are volunteers, as the clergy are exempt from war service.

Padres on the front lines today are as insured to the rigors of war as the men whom they accompany. They are trained to jump with paratroops and even go on combined operations with Commando forces. Unarmed, they face all the hazards of invasion beaches, warfare in jungles and deserts. Seven British chaplains are missing, thirty-eight of them have been killed in action or died of wounds, and 120 have been taken prisoner. In battle they perform first aid and serve as stretcher-bearers; behind the lines they act as welfare officer, censor, spiritual adviser and friend.

Major the Rev. J. E. Gough Quinn was typical of the value of front-line padres. He was killed during the precarious landing at Salerno in Italy last September. Before that he won the M.C. at Dunkirk, was among those besieged for five months at Tobruk in North Africa, was later wounded in Tripoli and taken prisoner, but escaped—Hamilton Spectator.

Price Control And Rationing Information

Q.—Is it right for a store to refuse to deliver an order of food unless I give an order of $2 or more?

A.—No dealer is compelled to make deliveries. As a matter of economy the Board has ruled that except in a number of specified cases retailers are forbidden to make deliveries of orders of less than $1. In order to conserve manpower, gasoline and rubber, the Board has asked the consuming public to carry as many articles as possible, and also asked the merchants to co-operate by cutting down their deliveries. In wartime everyone must do their part to assist in conserving materials and labour.

Q.—I was told at my grocery store that I could not have a certain article unless I gave a large order. Is this right?

A.—Definitely not! The Prices Board has ordered discontinuance of the practice by merchants of refusing to sell goods in short supply to customers unless they also buy other goods. Sale of goods must not be made contingent upon the purchase of other goods. Thank you for giving us the name of your dealer. The matter is being investigated.

Q.—Is there any law governing the size of butter pats as served in restaurants? They seem to vary in size at different places and in some places you can get two or three pats on one sitting.

A.—According to the regulations of the Board, restaurants must serve one butter pat, weighing one-third of an ounce, with each meal. Forward specific information regarding size and number of butter pats you received and the cases will be investigated.

Q.—Is it against Board regulations for my grocer to put away groceries for example raisins, for a farmer's wife who is a regular customer?

A.—There is no regulation prohibiting a grocer from first meeting the needs of his established customers before taking care of others.

Q.—My butcher charged me what I think was an excessive price for a leg of lamb. How can I check on the price he charged?

A.—Your butcher is required to post in a prominent place in his store charts giving prices for various cuts of lamb and beef.

Please send your questions or your request for the pamphlet "Consumers' News" or the Blue Book (the book in which you keep track of your selling prices). Please mention the name of this paper to Wartime Prices and Trade Board, Regina, Saskatchewan, or your nearest Wartime Prices and Trade Board office.

Decline In Prairie Chickens And Partridges In Western Provinces
A serious decline in the prairie chicken and Hungarian partridge population in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, was reported by Ducks Unlimited.

The report based on a survey conducted by 667 observers in the prairie provinces, attributes the decline to excessive mortality among the young broods, due to cold, wet weather last summer.

In Saskatchewan 52 observers reported an increase, 140 a decrease and eight no change. An increase was reported by 50 observers in Alberta, 119 reported a decrease and 68 no change. Only five of the 146 observers in Manitoba reported an increase.

Mrs. Lily McLaughlin, who runs a little paper store in a Scottish village, thought she would know a Canadian agent if she heard one. She was right.

"Map of district? Can't speak English very well," said a handsome young stranger who entered her store. "Canadian," he added, in explanation.

Mrs. McLaughlin told him she had to get the map from a back room and rushed to the "phone there. The police, who arrived a few minutes later, told her she was correct about her misgivings as to the prospective customer's accent. Her "Canadian" was an escaped Luftwaffe officer.

Other organization aspects given were the dominion-wide expansion of the union and its affiliation with an international organization of its kind.

Queer Ideas On Oatmeal Value

The great Samuel Johnson evidently had a poor opinion of oatmeal porridge. "Oats," he said, "we feed to horses in England but in Scotland they support the people." And Boswell retorted "Yes, but where can you find such horses as in England, or such men as in Scotland."

Though connoisseurs of food, Johnson and Boswell were ignorant about nutrition and Johnson frequently suffered from illness caused by faulty diets. Nevertheless Boswell was close to the mark when he attributed the sturdiness of the Scots to their liberal use of oats.

The crofters of Scotland in those days did, indeed, subsist largely on oats. Oatmeal porridge made their morning and evening meal and oatcakes were their only form of bread. The oats provided them with energy, with important minerals and with generous amounts of the important vitamin thiamin or B1, in which our modern diets are all too often deficient.

"We would be a better nourished nation if everyone started the day with a bowl of oatmeal or other whole grain cereal," says Dr. L. B. Pett, director of Nutrition Services at Ottawa.

"Too many Canadians skip on breakfast and when this important meal does not carry its share of the health protective foods, it is difficult to get all that is required in the other two meals."

ODD BITS ABOUT OUR ARMED FORCES

Suitable Canadian Forestry Corps personnel who have returned to Canada are being afforded the opportunity of reentering into other services for overseas duty.

Members of the Canadian Women's Army Corps may now carry their belongings in a suitcase rather than a kitbag when going on leave. It will enable them to have unwrinkled pressed clothing to wear at the end of their trip.

Soldiers temporarily relieved of front-line duties in Italy are being taken on sight-seeing tours of points of interest by Auxiliary Service officers.

Corporal Marie Jolin, of Winnipeg, Man., has been promoted in the Canadian Women's Army Corps from the rank of Lance-Corporal. She is employed as a Night Operator in the Directorate of Ordnance Service Storekeeping in Ottawa. Cpl. Jolin enlisted in May, 1943.

Battle casualties in the Canadian Army in the Mediterranean area reported up to November 25, 1943, were 3,533 all ranks. National Defence Headquarters has announced.

A special permit was recently issued so that non-alloy steel could be diverted from war channels to make 500,000 safety razor blades for the Canadian Army.

Approximately one thousand applications are sent by troops every month to the Canadian Legion Educational Services for enrolment in the correspondence courses offered men at the front.

Canadian Women's Army Corps personnel are now being trained as wireless operators for employment in fixed wireless stations.

A Simple Home Treatment

If your scalp has broken out with ugly spots, rashes or irritations—DON'T DO IT with finger nails as that only serves to make it worse—and spreads it. Do this at least once a day and about every fourth day shampoo with a good soap. Soon you'll find this combination start right in eradicating the itching. Continue the treatment until relieved and the loose, flaking dandruff has disappeared.

Continue for 2 weeks, and if then you have not found relief, money back. Druggists everywhere sell Emerald Oil.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY— "HORSES"

—By—
HELEN THOMSON

McClure Newspaper Syndicate

There is nothin' a circus man hates worse than some dressed up gent who strolls around the lot pokin' every-thing to himself as he goes and laughin' to himself as if the whole outfit is a fifth rate, moth-eaten show tryin' to be a first class circus.

This one showed up on a Saturday afternoon when we were in New-castle. He had his cane under his arm and his hands in his pants pockets with his coat pulled back so he could show off the big heavy gold chain across his flowered waist-coat.

"Somethin' I can do for you?" I asked him, wishin' I could reach over and tie that fancy stick of his around his windpipe.

"I hardly think so," says he, leanin' an elbow in my ticket window. "I never cared much for shows like this here."

He pulled out a big gold watch. "I've got two hours to kill before train time and I thought I might just see some of the little amuse-ments here," but I guess not.

He put his thumbs in his waist-coat pockets and rocked back on his heels. "I'm a speculator with horses," he explained, lookin' at me as if he expected me to keel over with the honor of havin' him on the lot.

"I'm takin' this train tonight to the races at Saratoga." He gave me a sly smile and lifted his eyebrows. "And I don't mind tellin' you that I'm expectin' to come home with a nice piece of money."

"Then," I said, tryin' to keep civil, "it would be some kind of a horse race that you would like."

He nodded without lookin' at me, as if talkin' to circus hands was somethin' that about put him to sleep. "It wouldn't matter if the horses was slow ones? You could pick the winner just the same?"

Mr. Slicker nodded again and yawned. "Maybe we can fix you up with a little amusement," I called to Joe and Bill who had been watchin' from the lemonade stand. "This gentleman wants to see a horse race," I told them.

I was in the middle of sayin' that maybe Mr. Slicker might like that act where a black horse and a white one race around the rings five times, when he interrupted. "Can you get anybody to put up money? You know," he explained, as if the three of us was much about seven years old, "to speculate on a horse race you have to have bets."

Bill and Joe and I huddled for a minute, then I did the talkin'. "We don't know very much about horses," I said, tryin' to sound a little timid. "It's a toss up with us whether the black in this act we was tellin' about is the fastest or whether it's the white. We can't say which horse has won the most times in the past for we haven't any record. So you pick the horse you think will win, and the three of us will bet three hundred that he won't."

Mr. Slicker snapped to with a bang. "Three hundred dollars? Not bad. Not bad. Hm-m." He paused and smiled that sly smile of his. "But how do I know you won't fix it some way?"

"Look," I said, "we couldn't have fixed it yet because we didn't know there was goin' to be a race until a couple of minutes ago."

Mr. Slicker guessed that was right. "And you stay right with us after you pick your horse so you'll know that we haven't had a chance to do any fixin'."

"Suits me. Suits me," Mr. Slicker announced, tappin' the ground with his cane like he was all full of business. "Now let's look at the horses."

He sure took a look at those horses. He did everything but crawl down their throats.

"My money's on the black," he said, cuttin' a big cigar. "Main thing wrong with the white is that she's got too much wind under her. That means," he explained for our benefit, "that her legs are too long for her body."

"But what if it's a draw?" I asked. Mr. Slicker snorted. "Won't be any draw. I said the black will win and I know my business."

Well, there we were in the boxes. Mr. Slicker was chewin' that cigar for all he was worth. He pretty near fell out of the box followin' the horses around the far ring.

First the black was ahead twice around and Mr. Slicker was hittin' us all on the back. Then the white came up, and he chewed a couple more inches off his cigar. Then black was ahead with half a lap to go and Mr. Slicker was standin' up yellin'. Ten yards from the finish the black was still ahead and the way Mr. Slicker was actin' we thought he was goin' right out on the track to make sure of his three hundred by carryin' the black across the line. But at the finish the horses were neck and neck—even Mr. Slicker didn't try to argue it. He just fell down into his seat like he had been hit in the stomach. And he was one sour man when he paid off.

We stood there watchin' him stagger away through the crowd.

"Wonder what he'll say when somebody tells him some time that about every circus in the country has a black and white race—and that they always end up a draw because the horses are trained that way," Joe said.

WANTED TO BE READY

A little girl was taken to the Zoo by her father. They stood before a lion's cage and the father explained how fierce and strong lions were and how they would attack and devour human beings.

The little girl looked thoughtfully at the lion. Then she said: "Daddy, if it got out of the cage and ate you up, what number bus would I have to take to get home?"

RENDERS CONSTRUCTIVE COMMUNITY SERVICE

(One of a series of articles about your community lumber merchant, by F. C. Pickwell, well-known western newspaper writer.)

"Mid pleasure and palaces though we may roam, Be it over so humble, there's no place like home!"

This wonderful old song has grown in popularity ever since it was composed over a century ago by John Howard Payne, an American dramatist. It will continue to be sung with equal fervor by coming generations. Why? Because the sentiment which influenced the author was based on an unquenchable instinct: love of home and companionship. There is nothing more sacred than the alluring contentment of one's home—the foundation of Christian civilization and individual freedom.

That same spirit inspired the home-builders who developed the Prairie overtook them and were welcome. That was the prevailing spirit among the West's first settlers. They banked on neighborly goodwill and self-reliance.

Amid the ups and downs of courageous pioneering, prosperity finally spread over the older settlements and other communities developed. This led to new schools, trails gave way to roads, branch railways opened unpopulated areas, and political participation took root. That soon led to the birth of Saskatchewan and Alberta, and an expansion of Manitoba's boundaries. New towns and villages were established, and the lumber merchant naturally took his place in the picture. He helped to provide the modernized phase of rapid progress in Western Canada.

When it is borne in mind that the Provinces. They were obliged to make the best of what they had. There are pioneers still living who owe their success to the co-operative team-work displayed by those staunch-hearted young men and women, who transformed unbroken land into productive channels. Aside from what was then a corner of Manitoba, the country was known as the Northwest Territories, with a small non-partisan government in Regina. When lumber was unavailable, standing timber was converted into log cabins. Failing that, sod huts provided temporary substitutes.

Neighborhood men joined forces in building beds, while women formed the original community cooking and sewing circles. Charging pioneers for meals when on a trip was simply not done. People just drove in to any homestead when mealtime

Germany's Reserves

May Be Made Up Mostly Of Older Age Groups

Nazi Germany must be nearing the limit of her manpower resources just at the time when the United Nations, reaching the peak of their power, are preparing the heaviest blows that have fallen yet. In the summer of 1942 the German Army was believed to number about 8,000,000 men. By calling upon women, children, prisoners and forced laborers from Italy, France, Russia and Poland to man the machines and till the fields behind the lines, it is probable that it has been kept close to that figure.

Nevertheless, it would be surprising if the German Army were as good today as it was when it marched into Poland or even as strong as when it swept into Russia in June, 1941. Young men between 18 and 25 make the best soldiers, and it is in that age group that losses have been heaviest, if the experience of the First World War is being duplicated. The records show that for every 100 men in the preferred age groups drafted in 1916, there were only forty-six in 1917 and twenty-eight in 1918.—New York Times.

The first air combat occurred in the First Great War when a British pilot flew over a German plane and shot at it with a revolver.

FLAX FOR AIRCRAFT

The area under flax in Britain increased from a few hundred acres in 1939 to over 50,000 acres in 1943. Northern Ireland has also made a remarkable increase in acreage from about 20,000 to 90,000. From this effort have come large quantities of high grade wing fabric for aircraft.

main prairie development took place largely within the last four decades, this remarkable record becomes all the more impressive. True, mistakes in judgment were made and inevitable failures resulted. But, taken on the whole, it is doubtful if any other country has to its credit a better average reward for sound thinking and individual initiative.

According to latest official statistics approximately fifty per cent. of all prairie farm owners have no mortgage or agreement of sale registered against their property. If any additional proof were needed, ample is apparent in the quality of homes and farm buildings all over the Prairie Provinces. Most of these are modern and comfortable. They do not look like the product of universal failures, as noisily proclaimed by socialist politicians, but do provide a healthy illustration of Canadians who have made good—and still prefer to manage their own affairs.

Considerable credit must be given to community lumber dealers for the impressive progress made in western farm buildings. There was a time when the designing or construction of a new home became quite a problem. Beyond cities, few if any architects were available for technical advice. This difficulty was solved in 1916, when the Western Lumbermen's Association opened a Building Department to assist members in their drafting and estimating problems. Some ten thousand plans have since been drawn for the exclusive use of their customers in towns and the country.

The primary purpose of this important innovation was to enable community lumber dealers collectively to render this valuable technical service to customers. Through that constructive co-operative effort it is now possible for anyone to choose from a varied collection of modern and original designs for homes or farm buildings. On the other hand, any special individual ideas concerning plans for a new home may be submitted and finally drafted in detail. All that is necessary is to consult your dealer and give him an outline of what you have in mind. These can then be submitted to the Association where the Building Department will embody them in a new set of plans. These are all designed to suit western climatic conditions—a vital factor in any home.

Anyone who has gone through the ordeal of building that "ideal home" we all dream about at times will appreciate the wisdom of first having plans expertly drawn by an architect, with the approximate cost for work and material. Otherwise, you are heading for trouble by way of unnecessary and costly alterations, to say nothing of dissensions. Commence right by securing detailed plans and sound technical advice. The investment and personal aspirations are too important to risk any chances.

Take the local lumber merchant into your confidence. Frequently when sketches are made for special plans of a home the architect, after a preliminary study, may suggest certain improvements which might be made. In such cases the changes are re-sketched and reasons outlined to the prospective builder. That results in a better value and complete satisfaction.

Bear in mind that your lumber dealer will take up the problem economically and with pride in assuming some responsibility for a fine structure in his community.

The home with individuality and charm need not be large nor costly.

Victory Bonds

Purchased By Troops Overseas And Are Now Being Delivered Here

An announcement of special interest to relatives and friends awaiting receipt of Fifth Victory Loan Bonds bought for cash by troops Overseas was made by the Department of National Defence. The application forms for these bonds were originally completed in the field, a large number in the Mediterranean area. All such applications had to be sent to Canadian Military Headquarters, London, where they had to be checked and recorded before being dispatched to the Bank of Canada, Ottawa.

All cash applications received to date from the Overseas Forces have been dealt with and the relative bonds delivered in accordance with the expressed wishes of the individual purchasers. Advice has recently been received, however, from Canadian Military Headquarters, London, that large shipments of applications have, within the past few days, been mailed to the Bank of Canada, Ottawa. These shipments presumably include the bulk of those emanating from the Mediterranean theatre. It is anticipated that it may be some time before they are actually received on this side, but delivery of bonds will be made without delay once the application forms reach Ottawa.

M. Hill. Mr. R. H. Ols was the lucky gent in the men's scoring, while Miss Aletha Knudson and Mr. Martin Enger came out on the small end of the scoring. A delightful lunch was served at the close.

TEN MILLION DOLLARS NEEDED

From the beginning of this global war, the Canadian Red Cross, through the support of its volunteers, shouldered the responsibility of caring for the wounded and needy; bringing comforts and supplies to the Armed Forces; seeing to it that dried blood serum is available on all battlefronts, and turning out clothing and surgical supplies in astronomical quantities.

Now with the most critical phase of war looming up, there is a call upon the energies and resources of Canadian Red Cross workers, unique in all history. It is not only for theiris at hand, that vast preparations must be made, but for the aftermath.
